

PLANNING & COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

City of Orange, Texas

THE IMPORTANCE OF PLANNING

Planning gives design, shape, and structure.

According to the American Planning Association, Planning works to improve the welfare of people and their communities by creating more convenient, equitable, healthful, efficient and attractive places for present and future generations.

PLANNING

Draws on social sciences such as public administration, political science, economics, sociology, and social psychology as well as specialized knowledge related to land use, architecture, transportation, historic preservation, housing, environmental sciences, civil engineering, management and municipal law.

WHO is involved in the planning process?

- City Council
- Planning and Zoning Commission
- Public
 - Community Groups
 - Neighborhoods
 - Business interests
 - Social interests
 - Media
- Consultants
- City Staff

WHAT issues are included in planning?

- When to plan
- What to include in the plan
- Coordination of different plans
- Handling conflicts between different planning ideas/goals/objectives
- Cost
- Anticipating future trends/needs/desires
 - Changing economic climate and income levels
 - Changing demographics
 - Technological changes
 - Social changes
 - Natural/environmental changes
 - Federal/state legislative mandates/laws
 - More participatory, more electronically based and concerned with increasingly complex issues
- Changing planning techniques and policies to meet future needs

WHY do we plan?

- Allows the community to assess its current condition and issues
- Provides a vision for the future—should be realistic and achievable
- Coordinate/guide policies, procedures and decisions
- Provides information to potential developers/investors on how the City sees itself developing
- Provides information to the public about the community

HOW do we plan?

- P&Z reviews need to update the Comprehensive Master Plan and provides a recommendation to the City Council
- Council provides the funding and directs that the update of the Comprehensive Master Plan be initiated
- P&Z and City Council decide what elements need to be in the Comprehensive Master Plan
- Requests for Proposals With Qualifications issued, proposals evaluated and planning consultant hired
- Make population projections, determine trends and acquire accurate information on land use, transportation, drainage, infrastructure and other relevant aspect of development, economic and social issues
- Use participatory techniques to involve community residents within the planning process:
 - Public meetings to gather information
 - Surveys
 - P&Z and Council public hearings
- Evaluate information using various quantitative and qualitative methodologies. Present information using charts, maps, graphs and other visual displays
- P&Z reviews draft of the comprehensive plan and conducts public hearings and disseminates information on the draft plan
- P&Z revises the draft plan if necessary and votes to recommend adoption by the City Council
- Council reviews plan, makes any desired changes, and adopts updated Comprehensive Master Plan
